Weakest Link

Attempts by defenders of the German war criminals being tried at Nuremberg to bring the retaliation theory into the trial strike at the weakest link in the Allies' chain of legal reasoning.

The retaliation theory is that Germans did what their enemies did and that Germans, therefore, are no guiltier of war crimes than their prosecutors and judges. Or, stated more broadly, it is that if Germany had won the war it would be as clearly justified in trying Allied leaders for war crimes as the Allies are justified in trying German war leaders.

This slippery kind of reasoning has caused some Americans to conclude that the premise of the German war trials is one of expediency rather than justice and that the trials are a mockery of justice. But the conclusion ignores the central fact of the indictment, which is the charge that Germany plotted the war coldly and methodically in violation of existing commitments made in apparent good faith. For Germany to have brought the same charge against the Allies, had Germany been the victor, would have meant going contrary to every known fact in the record of its carefully-laid plans for sudden conquest and extermination of populations.

Mistakes Of The Mind

The Navy department's decision to remit the sentence given Capt. Charles H. McVay for his part in the disaster that destroyed the cruiser Indianapolis last July 30 is in line with previous decisions. Both the War and Navy departments have been broadly tolerant of mistakes of the mind in the course of the war.

The charge on which Capt. McVay was found guilty by a naval court was failure to follow a zig-zag course according to standing orders. The fact is that the soundness of the order itself was questionable. It was not sufficient to justify an otherwise capable officer's disgrace.

In the current Harper's, Fletcher Pratt deals roughly with the military censorship which hid from the public some of the worst mental lapses of the war. Capt. McVay's lapse, if it can be called that, was minor by comparison. It was his misfortune, however, that the Indianapolis disaster occurred at the end of the war when censorship was relaxed. It attracted wide attention. Like the lapses that led to the Pearl Harbor disaster, it seemed to call for a scapegoat. But scapegoats in war are treacherous animals. Instead of focusing attention on themselves, they call attention to the fact that if every officer who made a mistake were brought to trial there would be no officers left to carry on the war.

Pattern For Aggression

Because faith, hope and charity are so very important to the future peace of this world, Americans have been leaning over backward to give Russia the benefit of every doubt as to the ultimate goals toward which she is moving.

We want desperately to believe that Stalin's intentions are not aggressive, that he is not deliberately trading upon our pacifism to get away with a program of imperialism at the expense of weaker nations who have a right to look to us for assistance.

It becomes increasingly difficult to kid ourselves that a nation indulging in flagrant, unabashed aggression is not an aggressor nation.

True, the Soviet Union does not deliver ultimatum with troops poised on a border ready to blitzkrieg its victim. But under the circumstances this is not necessary. Stalin already has armed forces within the countries over which he wishes to extend Russia's domination. They went there as liberators, and for one reason or another they never troubled to go home.

Stalin has a much simpler and equally effective pattern for aggression, that thus far has successfully invited appeasement by offering no one moment at which we have to come to a decision. We have seen it in Poland, in Hungary, in Yugoslavia, in Iran. We are seeing it in Manchuria.

Communists inspired, financed, directed—sometimes trained and armed—by Moscow create an internal issue against a non-Communist government. Argument and accusations lead to disorders, and these in turn lead to insurrection.

Soviet troops, already present as the liberators who came to dinner and never did get started for home, prevent government forces from putting down the revolt. They don't attack the government forces; they merely sit down in the path, secure in knowledge that the government troops won't dare attack them to get through.

Meanwhile the Red revolutionists, unhampered, set up a de facto government, declare their mutuality of interest with Moscow—and another non-Communist nation has become part of the Russian community.

We don't like it. So what? We promised China to return Manchuria to her. Are we going to fight Russia to do so?

There is a lot of dynamite in this Soviet pattern for aggression, in view of the Atlantic Charter and traditional American international policy.

Something For Nothing

In mid-1945 Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the UAW-CIO, submitted to William H. Davis, then Director of Economic Stabilization, a memorandum on "How to raise wages without increasing prices."

The idea was intriguing. Labor, which includes most of us, wants higher wages. Consumers, which includes all of us, are oppressed by high prices. If wages can go up and prices stay where they are, everybody will be happy.

President Truman either conceived the same idea or borrowed it from Reuther or somebody else. He decided that labor—organized, articulate, aggressive labor, at any rate—could be given a nice fat pay boost without raising the prices of consumer goods.

So we have had a wave of strikes that shut down some of our key industries, thereby closing or hampering other industries where there was no actual strike. Steel, automobiles, electrical goods' manufacturers have contended that they could not possibly pay the scales demanded by the unions unless they were permitted to recoup part of the outlay by charging higher prices.

The outcome was a change in the national wage-price policy. President Truman says he is still "holding the line". Chester Bowles, new Economic Stabilizer, says "There will be no retreat to a new line on prices and rents." On second thought, Mr. Bowles there will not "necessarily" be such a retreat, leaving the inference that he may be having reserve positions prepared. Both describe the change as just a "bulge" in a limited sector.

We hope they are right. We hope they have figured out some method by which they can persuade the unions that have been watching steel, automobile workers, electrical workers, that what is sauce for the goose would be poison for the gander. We hope they can demonstrate that the same cold facts that produced the "bulge" on steel need not yield a break-through in other lines.

But Reuther's thesis, adopted by the White House, hasn't worked out too well thus far. He argued that huge wartime profits, plus increased man-hour productivity of labor, would absorb the wage increases. He forgot that much wartime profit necessarily will be consumed in physical reconversion and in overhead during reconversion; he ignored that man-hour productivity increased only because industry had shifted to war-scale production that now is ended.

No business can long continue to pay out more than it takes in. Wages are paid out of receipts. Even American genius can't make something for nothing.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, February 27.

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects there is some hope of mending broken ties, by consideration, tact and finesse and not by resort to rancorous measures.

It is well not to expect any help from elders or relatives in this enterprise. Overlook arguments and conflicts for more hopeful results in both business and domestic relations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may, by the use of tact, finesse and gracious attitudes, decrease difficulties and halt breaks and estrangements. Practical and constructive methods should prove effective, but in these there are no co-operations or sympathy from elders or relatives.

Make adjustments where possible and do not neglect the element of charm and warmth of feeling, to break down resistance.

A child born on this day will be ardent, warm and friendly and its great ability to make adjustments or remove obstacles should make life agreeable after some crashes.

The Japs launched 9,000 balloons against the U. S. during the war. And collectively, they proved one grand bust.

Glandular Ill In Older Men

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
IT has been said that four out of ten men beyond the age of fifty have some disturbance of the prostate gland. Infections of this gland are common in older persons. Another disorder known as benign hypertrophy, which merely means enlargement of the gland, is also frequent.

Infection and inflammation of the gland may be brought about by various means. Infection may be brought to the gland from other parts of the body such as the teeth, tonsils, and sinuses. It may also develop as a result of infections in the kidney or gallbladder. Sometimes, the condition develops after an attack of influenza.

Use of Drugs

It would appear that the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin, according to present medical evidence, do not seem to have much value in overcoming these chronic prostatic infections. The treatment usually employed consists in massage of the gland, which is carried out through the rectum, together with removal of the source of the infection when possible.

Another condition affecting the gland is prostatic fibrosis. In this condition, there is a formation of scar tissue, causing shrinking of the gland, which in turn blocks the opening from the bladder. In such cases, the symptoms consist of frequent emptying of the bladder and some loss of control. The symptoms are constant and annoying.

According to Dr. Louis H. Barret of Brooklyn, the treatment of prostatic fibrosis consists in operating through a cystoscope and removing the tissues in the gland which are blocking the neck of the bladder.

A cystoscope is an instrument made up of a tube with a light at the end of it which can be passed into the bladder making it possible for the doctor to look directly into the bladder. This operation, as a rule, will completely relieve the symptoms and, of course, should be carried out by an expert.

The cause of benign hypertrophy is not known. Certain things have been suggested, such as infections and disturbances of the sex glands.

Type of Operation

The treatment of this disorder consists also of some type of operation. The operation may be done through the cystoscope, or the gland may be completely removed.

With the use of the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin to control infections following operation, the dangers of these operative procedures have been greatly reduced.

Cancer of the prostate may also develop. Early removal of the gland may be successful in many cases of prostatic cancer if the diagnosis is made early enough. The saving of certain glandular secretions, that is the estrogenic substances, by mouth and castration have been found to be of great value in cancer of the prostate.

It would appear that castration helps relieve the pain. The gland itself shrinks in size while the patient gains weight and his appetite improves.

Boyle's
COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW DELHI, Feb. 22.—Some people collect match covers. Some go in for Shakespeare folios. My hobby is staying in "grand hotels."

You find them everywhere—from Oran to Cairo, from Paris to Calcutta. The name "grand" is the most popular one in the hotel business. There are almost as many "grand hotels" in the world as there are Smiths, Browns and Johnsons to fill them.

My current ambition is to be known as the man who has slept in more "grand hotels" than any man living.

Of them all I remember best perhaps the "grand hotel" of Calcutta, which the maitre d'hotel assured me was "the largest and finest hotel in the Orient." He said it had more than 500 rooms, baths and 400 Indian waiters in the main dining room alone. When I got up from my first meal I believed from Thirteen waiters in scarlet and white stood around the table and watched me as I got up and laid down my tip—very self consciously. I don't know yet which won.

There were all sorts of odd characters wandering around this "grand hotel," among them a frustrated pretzel baker named Jhunnoo, who one morning wandered uninvited into my room—all "grand hotel" rooms everywhere seem to have swinging doors—and tried to sell me first a haircut, then a shampoo, then a shave, and finally suggested a massage.

Nine British officers sharing this room with me—there is a housing shortage in the Far East, too—thought it would be a good idea for me to have a massage.

Jhunnoo, a big husky Indian with a fierce black mustache and muscles like bedsprings, said at one time he had been a wrestler. He took one look at my sprawled frame and grunted: "Too fat!"

The one-man riot went to work. He thumped me for hollow spots. He pulled and twisted and kneaded and bent me. He stretched me back and forth like I was a reluctant accordion. The British officers, just out of the Burma jungle, sat cross-legged on their beds and watched happily. They were waiting for me to crack at the seams.

After bouncing me against the headboards like a basketball several times, Jhunnoo began tying my limp and shattered frame into all the knots in the Boy Scout's handbook. When he finished after half an hour I was shaped like a running bowline and he wouldn't untie me until I paid him two rupees.

"Same time tomorrow—too fat,"

LET'S WORK FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

MEN want to work.

Management wants to produce.

The public wants to buy.

The country wants prosperity.

Yet good times have been held up by an agony of strikes.

Strikes breed bitterness . . . hunger . . . and economic stagnation.

For the sake of our country, let's change this! Change it fast. Time is running out!

Let's work out a way to get—and keep—industrial peace and prosperity.

THE FIRST STEP

Isn't a sound national labor policy . . . one that treats workers and management exactly alike and above all one that is fair to the public . . . the first step toward that peace?

Sincerely believing this to be so, we offer this program for peace and production and prosperity:

1. Make employers and unions equal in responsibility under the law.

2. Let Congress set the rules for genuine collective bargaining, free from coercion and violence, and then let government enforce these rules with strict impartiality.

3. Provide safeguards for the public against strikes or boycotts arising from disputes between unions.

4. Insure against strikes until all orderly procedures for settling disputes have been exhausted. Your representatives in Congress have the power to establish this pattern for an enduring and fair labor peace. Let them know how you feel about it. Urge them to act promptly on legislation to include these four points.

Time alone won't bring industrial peace. Doing nothing won't bring it. Positive action is the only way. For your own sake and for the future of our country, let your voice be heard!

FREE! A timely, authoritative booklet entitled "The Public and Industrial Peace," gives full details of this program, including specific suggestions for legislation. It is a useful handbook for every citizen, program chairman, or group leader. A postcard brings it. Address: National Association of Manufacturers, 14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y.

Ordinance Experts Seek Clue To Secret Weapon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Revived reports of a German wartime "secret weapon" that would freeze everything within five miles attracted the interest of army ordinance experts today.

They looked for such a weapon in Germany last spring when the reports first were heard. They did not find it.

The latest report of it came from Dr. J. W. Bennken of Chicago, president of the Missouri synod of the Lutheran church.

Ordinance officials told a reporter they would be glad to have any definite information from him.

Bennken told a meeting of churchmen at Houston, Tex., he heard of the weapon during a recent seven-week trip to Europe. He related that Hitler never received the weapon as the inventor was persuaded to withhold it because of its fearful effect.

Endres-Gross Telegraph Flowers To Any Point

Contrary to the belief of many, the Florists Telegraph Delivery association, of which Endres-Gross are members, does not sell flowers. It is a service. It is not designed to sell flowers but rather to sell ways and means of transmitting flowers.

Although each florist that is a member of the association is operating his business as an individual he must agree to and fully fulfill the rigid rules set up by the association. That's why Mr. Gross can take your order for any sort of floral arrangement and wire the order to another association member in a distant city and know that

Matt Klein Operates Specialized Garage

Matt Klein, who operates a specialized garage at 813 Newgarden st. believes that any motorist who will keep his car in correct alignment will save at least 25 per cent of his repair bills and at the same time save even more than 25 per cent of tire wear.

It's watching for the parts that are wearing or becoming loose that cause real expense if neglected. Cars today are certain to need careful checking for loose bolts and minor wear that soon become serious.

Matt Klein inspects many cars that tests prove nothing need be done to improve the alignment condition and he makes no charge for this service.

Klein has every device known to the trade to do this specialized work correctly. A visit to his shop will convince you.

Salem Progress In Tourney Wouldn't Surprise All Followers

There may not be many people who expect Salem to go the route through the Youngstown sectional tournament, but there are a lot who wouldn't be too surprised if the Quakers did end up a lot farther along than their season record of 10 wins and eight losses might indicate.

Coach Bob Miller, in his second year at Salem High, isn't making any rash promises about Salem's tourney chances, but you can tell after a minute's conversation with the Quaker tutor that he is stuffed with faith in his charges.

For one thing, Miller looks back with pride at the turn for the better his club has shown. Starting out with two wins, the locals dropped into a six-game losing streak, then perked up to win eight of their last 10 tries.

Another important factor which Miller has to think about this year is that the 1946 Class A tournament Salem entry is not a favorite as the 1945 club was.

Observers over at Youngstown are not marking Salem to upset anyone, but in idle conversation around the field house, it is often proposed that "this Quaker club may pull the surprise."

Salem is blessed with something that usually pays off in tourney play—height. Lanky Bob Payer, only a Sophomore, is well remembered at Youngstown for the brief, but impressive show, he gave against Boardman last year. When Payer, who is 6'10", center, he sparked the local club to a near comeback in a game that seemed hopelessly lost. He was only a Freshman then.

Miller depends on Payer, who towers six feet six inches, to grab the majority of the rebounds and to score at least a third of Salem's points each game.

The tall lad hovers under basket most of the time and of late has been showing a definite improvement in scoring ability. He has netted 58 points in his last four games, copping 19 against Wellsville and 21 against Sebring last week. His total for the year is 164.

Six foot two inch Capt. "Mo" Hollinger, an All-County first team choice, is a demon on the rebound for Salem and has yet to be out-reached this year. Hollinger, besides being a sterling defensive man, has scored third high this year, netting 131 points in 18 games.

Leader of Miller's floor attack, both on offense and defense, is husky Tony Martinelli, five feet 10 inch Junior, one of the finest defensive players ever produced here.

Coming up from last year's reserve team, Martinelli stepped into the ball-handling chieftainship and won the praises of everyone in the assignment. He was chosen an All-County first team guard by 10 county coaches.

The 190-pound Junior has tallied second high on the team this year—137 points—in 18 games and has held his respective man well in every game.

At the other two starting berths Miller has been using Martinelli "Butch" Roth and Jimmie Laughlin. Both are short, Roth measuring five three and Laughlin around five eight.

Neither has been a scoring threat,

Roth totalling 32 points and Laughlin 47, but both have played important roles in the recently improved Salem game.

When height is needed—and that is often—Miller inserts Lowell Myers, six two, and John Priddy, six two, into Roth and Laughlin's spots. This gives him four men over the six foot mark with Martinelli's five ten at the fifth position.

In several games this year, the tallness has resulted in victory when the shorter combination was not able to control the oval.

Most important of all the pre-tourney considerations—in the coach's mind at least—is the fact that this year's Quaker edition is sincerely and earnestly determined to play "for keeps" in the sectional competition.

Getting his charges "up" for the games will not be a task this year, Miller believes, as the boys are keyed with a determination to earn their way straight through for another chance at Canton Lehman's Polar Bears, a team which licked them 65-29 early in the year.

If any encouragement to that determination is needed, Canton Lehman's coach, Jimmy Robinson lends it. In a recent interview, Robinson said there were only two teams in the sectional he was worried about. One is Youngstown South and the other is Salem.

Salem, Campbell Memorial, Youngstown Rayen, Girard, Canton Central, Niles and Louisville will make up Salem's original bracket, while Lehman, South, Brookfield, Newton Falls and Wilson comprise the upper bracket, the winner of which Salem must meet if it can survive its own bracket.

RESULTS AT SOUTH

Lincoln 55, Minerva 35.
Springfield Township 41, Poland 13.
Leetonia 41, Timken 31.
McKinley 42, Canton Township 35.

A RECORD-BREAKING CROWD—4,500 people—jammed South High school's field house last night to see what was expected to be a show of shows. They saw just what they came for.

Featured bill of the evening was the clash between undefeated Canton Township, with 14 straight wins, and Canton McKinley, victors in 13 of 16 tries. McKinley, obviously displaying the able touch of veteran Coach "Bud" Reardon, paced Township all the way and edged them out of the sectional, 42-35. It was a thriller from the start.

In the opener, Canton Lincoln's Lions moved out a notch by taking Minerva, 55-35, in a somewhat slow game. Class B's initial fray saw Springfield Township revenge what now seems an even more amazing upset by Poland last week, with comparative ease, 44-13.

Cy James' Youngstown Ursuline five clicked well and took the measure of Canton Timken in the third game, 41-31.

COLOR AND THRILLS—the like of which you can't find except in high school tournaments—were in full bloom at South last night. The Township defeat, a blow to a school record, breaking that of 23 points set by the late Mike Rejna in 1944, just before he entered service, well exemplified the thrill and competition of the entire set-up.

Valiant Township fought like demons until the very finish, never to get ahead but always remaining close enough to McKinley to hope. And hope they did.

Cheerleaders, decked out in a fine array of colors, were hard at work for all quarters last night. With the record-smashing crowd on hand, the commotion was nearly unbelievable.

STANDOUT PERFORMANCE of the evening was that of Tommy Williams, Lincoln's improving center. He scored 24 points—a new school record, breaking that of 23 points set by the late Mike Rejna in 1944, just before he entered service, well exemplified the thrill and competition of the entire set-up.

Floyd Meers of Township blasted through 12 points in a futile attempt to keep his club near the top. His mate, Bill Hayden, a swivel-hipped slim guard, also turned in a beautiful game and tallied 10 for Township.

Nick Stevenson and Bob Lilly topped McKinley's show with 13 and 11, respectively. Lee Howell, who garnered seven, looked impressive as a floor man.

THE VICTORIES move Canton Lincoln and Youngstown Ursuline into a 6 p. m. game next Monday. McKinley advances to meet potentially dangerous Hubbard (16-2) in the 7 p. m. fray on the same date.

At 6 tonight, Sebring (7-10) takes on East Palestine (4-13), a team fresh from a surprise victory over Louisville Saturday.

At 7 the feature of the evening pits Boardman (10-7) against seeded Warren (17-4), losers in their last three straight. Alliance (7-11) meets Youngstown Chagrin (6-13) in the 8 o'clock contest and powerful Canton Lehman (19-1) takes on underdog Brookfield (7-10) in the finale.

SCHOLASTIC AFFAIRS at South High school house turn completely to Class B tomorrow evening with a four game slate on the books, involving three Columbiana county entries—Leetonia, Columbiana and Fairfield.

Coach Atley Presley's Fairfield Comets, surprise winners of the county championship at Lisbon last week, will square off against Youngstown North in the 6 p. m. affair tomorrow.

Columbiana's Clippers take on unknown Braceville in the 8 p. m. test, following Springfield Township and McDonald's fame at 7. Leetonia meets Trumbull county's championship team, Howland, in the finale at 9 a. m.

FAIRFIELD'S CHANCES are slim, observers believe, as they face Coach Harold Heckman's North entry. The North lads are in "B" competition for the first time.

Coach John Cabas' Clippers are heavy favorites over the Braceville squad, of which little is known. The Clippers, however, are the marked team in the B sectional, along with Lowellville, North and Springfield Township.

Charlie Mather's Leetonia Bears, Stumpo, will have to win a step high to club wares with Belmont, winners of 19 and losers in five. Leetonia drew the easiest Klingensmith, 1-0-2 bracket and if they can surpass Bell, should have easy sailing.

Joe Walcott Ends Bivins Title Match Hopes

Smashes Cleveland Negro In Battle For Summer Setto

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26.—This lake metropolis plans to stage a stadium-filling bout between Jimmy Bivins and either Joe Louis or Billy Conn as a late-summer feature of its sesqui-centennial celebration were in the wastebasket today.

A 31-year-old guy named Joe Walcott from Camden, New Jersey, Walcott from Camden, N. J., father of six kids, erased those hopes last night with one of the year's nastiest right and left hand pasting jobs on the Cleveland challenger, rated right behind Louis and Conn in the heavyweight list.

Jersey Joe, who came out of retirement 18 months ago to pile up 20 straight wins, including 14 knockouts, kept Bivins in a befuddled state for 10 rounds, floored him for an eight-count in the seventh, and won a split decision.

One judge gave Walcott eight rounds, Bivins one and rated one even. The other judge called it 6-4 for the Jersey daddy, while Referee Jackie Davis, judging from the roof-raising cheers at the finish, was the only one in the arena who thought Bivins won. Davis gave it to Bivins by a 6-4 margin.

Bivins Had String Even Bivins, unbeaten in 25 fights since Bob Pastor outpointed him in April of 1942, wasn't surprised when the verdict was announced.

Walcott grinned and punched and shuffled and danced and feinted and hugged his way through the 10 rounds, and only twice did Bivins land a solid right on him—each coming late in the fight after Jimmy had almost exhausted himself with roundhouse swings at spots where Walcott had been a split-second before.

The Cleveland title aspirant went into the ring a 3 to 1 favorite, and left it badly beaten and disillusioned. Especially embarrassing was his first trip to the canvas in several years, the result of a winging right.

A crowd of 12,166, largest of the season, dumped $31,894.50 into the Arena box office for the slugfest. In a four-round preliminary Ois Walker of Cleveland, 157, won an unpopular decision over Mike Birukovich of Niles, O., 155.

First factory on American soil made glass beads for Indian trade, and the surplus became our first manufactured export to England.

OHSAA Announces Regional Setups

Emswiler Releases Sites And Assignments For Tourney Advances

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26.—Harold W. Emswiler, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, announced today the system to be followed in assigning district high school basketball tournament winners to the four regional affairs.

The district tournaments will end March 9 and the 16 survivors in each Class "A" and "B" will play in the regionals on March 15 and 16. In instances where it is necessary to split up the district winners, the surviving teams will go to the nearest regional.

For example, Emswiler said, there will be two Central district winners in Class "B." The one nearest Springfield will play in the regional in that city and the one nearest Athens will compete in the regional there. In some instances in the past a coin was tossed to determine where the district winners would play.

The assignments will be:

Class "A"
Regional at Dayton—One winner from the Central district and three from the Southwest district.

Regional at New Concord—One winner from the Northeastern district; one from the Southeastern and two from the Eastern.

Regional at Youngstown—Four winners from the Northwestern district.

Class "B"
Regional at Springfield—One winner from the Central district and three from the Southwestern.

Regional at Athens—One winner from the Central district; two from the Southeastern and one from the Eastern.

Regional at Youngstown—Three winners from the Northeastern district and one from the Eastern.

Regional at Bowling Green—Four winners from the Northwestern district.

Only Poland Admits News Censorship

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 26.—An Associated Press survey shows that Poland is the only country in the Soviet zone of influence, extending from Russia to Germany, which still maintains a formal, officially-admitted news censorship.
The Warsaw government has informed protesting diplomats that censorship is necessary because of the presence of "subversive elements." All outgoing dispatches and everything published in Polish newspapers are studied closely by the censors, who are often advised by the Russians.

The survey also disclosed that Hungary maintains a "scrutiny" over outgoing dispatches on behalf of the Russians. This has delayed the transmission of news stories, since Hungarian officials are available to "scrutinize" only between 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. and doubtful stories are passed onto a Russian official who is available only between noon and 3 p. m. There has been only one incident of a dispatch being halted in transmission.
In Bulgaria, Romania and Czechoslovakia outgoing dispatches are not censored, but incoming news in Romania is censored prior to publication. Dispatches from Prague often take seven hours to reach London, but this is attributed to poor communications. All outgoing stories in Bulgaria are translated, primarily for the information of the ministers concerned.

In Yugoslavia no restraint is imposed on outgoing dispatches, but foreign correspondents are held strictly accountable for what they send and are subject to punitive action. As in Bulgaria, outgoing dispatches are translated for the information of ministers.

Suspected "Trigger Man" In Recent Killing Slain

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Death of a well-dressed man whose body was found in an automobile here, was described today by Lt. Peter A. Connors of the city homicide squad as "a typical gangland killing."
Connors said the victim had been identified tentatively by means of a photograph and laundry marks in his clothing as Aaron Meyerowitz, alias Danny Meyers, of Kansas City and Cincinnati.
At Newport, Ky., police Lt. James Gallucci said Meyerowitz was named as the trigger man in the killing of Clayton "Rip" Farley, 29, in front of the 633 club, a Newport night spot, last Friday.
The victim apparently was shot to death late Sunday night as he sat beside the driver of the auto.

PIN-WORMS LICKED AT LAST!

People don't talk about Pin-Worms—but more than you'd suspect have this ugly infection with its embarrassing rectal itch. However, it is no longer necessary to suffer. Today, thanks to a special, medically recommended drug, a real treatment has been established. This drug is the vital ingredient in P.W., the small, easy-to-take Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. D. Jayne & Son. They act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.
So watch out for warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself. Don't delay. Ask your Druggist for JAYNE'S P.W. and follow the directions. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!
